WHEELING, W. VA., JANUARY 10, 1882. THE Springfield, Mass., Republican is the opinion that a moderate commercia panic would do the country some good It explains this theory by remarking that the United States is bursting with exportable products, wheat, petroleum, cotton and others, all held at such prices that they can not be sold. Exports have shrunken to point where gold may have to be exported to pay for imports-no calamity in itsel but not a healthy indication under the cit cumstances. Now that the books of 1881 been squared up and a pretty fai business made out, a little letting out of the wind out of the inflated prices would have a good effect in business for 1882. There is some apprehension at the present stilted adition of affairs, and even the settlement of the railroad war is not likely to reassure

The tenth census sets at rest any appre the tendency of farming in the United States since the change from slave to free labor. We will never have an Irish ten ant labor system in the South. The land is going to be tilled by its owners. It is going to be continually subdivided, until the farms are small enough to enable that system of husbandry to be carried on. In Georgia in 1850 there were 50,750 farms; in 1860, 62,003; in 1870, 69,956; in 1880, 138, Thus, the number has nearly doubled in the last decade, or, in other words, the farms are only half as large as they were in 1879. There has been, at the sama considerable increase in the number of plantations of the larger lize. Of the middle class of farmers, 83 per cent. own their farms. It is only in large tracts that the

The performances at the Lincoln Club on Saturday night were of a very interesting and instructive character. Indeed, we don't know when we have listened to an entertain ment that was throughout of a more enjoya-ble character. We were glad to see so many of the members of the Legislature present for, as Dr. Logan, the President, well re marked: "Although the Lincoln Club is a political club, yet party lines are nev irawn among its members except on election day," and all respectable citizens and stran gers are welcome to its assembly room to witicss its periodical public entertainments Elsewhere the details of the performance are alluded to, and we propose in this reference to speak only of the address on "Superstiby Dr. R. W. Hazlett.

The subject is naturally very fruitful, and auggestive of an extensive line of though and illustration, but the doctor's half hour address was largely confined to a general review of the various superstitions that had characterized the nations of antiquity and of modern times. He gave a very interesting outline of the history of oracles and omens in Greece and Rome, and of the various superstitions of the Dark and Middle ages of the continent of Europe and in England, and still later in our own country. Upon the of our day approached in dignity those of Greece and Rome. There was something national, heroic and sublime about the superstitions of these two nations that was alto r lacking now. He took up spiritualism as the most marked and prevalent super fore rest than in any other nore zest than in any other portion of diress. This was natural, isasmuch as soft has had considerable to do at one und another in a public and private way mining and exposing so-called spirit estations. In point of credulity on fect evidence he placed it on a par he witcheraft of New England in the seenth century, and by the way he grave nort compass one of the most satisfacultines of that frenzy that we have earl. He read specimens of the kind lence on which witcheraft rested, on rength of which people were contrengt of which people were contrengt of which people were contracted.

of evidence on which witeheraft resied, on the strength of which people were condemned to death, citing particularly the thelogical reign of terror that prevailed under the auspices of Cotton Mather. It seemed impossible to realize that such a cruel superstition could have ever prevailed in our land, and so near our own day. Its victims were to be counted among the nine millions of the human race who in one nation and another, and in various ages, had perished by violence as victims of superatition.

In discussing spiritualism he miade the statement that since it began it had never revealed a fact worth knowing; it had never foretold a public chaimity; it had never foretold a public chaimity; it had never foretold a public chaimity; it had never foretold a public chaimity; it had never

foretold a tot worth knowing; it had never foretold to the control of the control and accomplished absolutely nothing that would stand the test of scientific investigation.

The lesson tangut by the Doctor's address was this. Thar'ti is the province of all true progress to beware of blindly referring to the appendatural, any phenomena, real or imaginary, that may not at once he readily explained by known laws. Nature has provided somewhere a key, like the famous Roserta

Railroad Passes in lows. The lower house of the legislature spent the greater part of Friday discussing a resolution of Mr. Aldrich as to free es. The resolution in substance is that "whereas, the system of granting free passes on railroads has grown to gigantic proportions, including every class of public officials; whereas, this state of things is viewed with alarm by the people, as it includes Judges of all the State Courts, all officers of the State, both branches of the legislature and delegates to political conventions; whereas exacting high rates of fare from the mass and giving free transportation to a favored class is manifestly unjust; Resolved, that the railway commission of the State be requested to report to the House by February 15th whether free passes be given to any class, except paupers, mendicants or that "whereas, the system of granting fre
